Campbell
HOMES

"When you grow up the son of a contractor, like I did, you inherit an eye for craftsmanship. So when I saw the building materials that went into Campbell Homes, I knew this is where we wanted to be. Campbell Homes uses all the right name brands, and backs up their work with old-fashioned attention to detail. What more could you ask for?"

ABOUT CAMPBELL HOMES

Campbell Homes was established in 1965 by Jon Campbell, whose vision was to build the best family homes in the region, and support them with unsurpassed customer service. Today, that dream is still alive and moving forward into the future, guided by industry leaders Randy Deming, Mike Hausman, and Mel Shade.

"This is the first home I ever bought. So it was scary, as well as exciting. Looking back, all I can say is, I not only picked a dream home, but a dream builder. Campbell Homes treated me like royalty—answering my questions, and walking me through every step of the process—from start to finish."

*As we see it, quality isn't something that ought to cost

"A while back, we downsized to a townhome. But when room started getting scarce, we thought, 'Hey, time to look into something a little more livable.' Campbell Homes impressed us not only with their floorplans and craftsmanship, but their ethics. They showed us the kind of commitment they're known for in this community, and we appreciated it."

WINNING QUALITIES

A lot of builders talk about "quality construction" as if it were an amenity. Or a grand gesture deserving of a pat on the back. But here at Campbell Homes we see it differently. To us, quality is simply doing the right thing every time out, no matter what the project. It means designing the best plans, investing in the best building materials, and hiring the best team of craftsmen to see the job through. No exceptions. No shortcuts.

As we see it, quality isn't something that ought to cost more. Or entitle one to boast. It's something that ought to be present—from the ground up—in both the construction of your home and the cut of the organization who builds it.

Yes, there are other builders out there vying for your heart (and pocketbook). But when you compare—feature for feature, home for home, you'll quickly see that true quality resides with Campbell Homes.

"I've owned a number of nice houses in my time, but I never appreciated how much more a new home brings to the picture until I met up with Campbell Homes. I got all the things I was looking for when I bought my Campbell Home—craftsmanship, attention to detail...livability. And for the first time in my life, I got them all under the same roof!"

INTEGRITY OF PURPOSE

What separates Campbell Homes from the others is the straightforward nature of our corporate culture, and the integrity of our people.

Over the years, we've been allowed to help shape the future of Colorado Springs, and as natives of this community, we've taken the privilege seriously.

Named "Builder of the Year" three times by the Housing and Building Association of Colorado Springs, Campbell Homes prides itself on being a good neighbor.

"Sometimes you have to brave the cold to find a home that warms your heart. I know. I spent weeks looking at houses this winter, but I didn't fall in love until I found Campbell Homes. Campbell Homes did so many things right, I was ready to move in while my home was still under construction! That's how comfortable they made me feel."
